October 2008

Dear Friends,

I have wrapped up my 20th year at the Minnesota Renaissance Festival. We were blessed with decent weather and lovely crowds. I met and talked with over 400 people of all ages and from all walks of life. As always I am in awe of the depth of connection I make with many of these customers in just 15 minutes. During these 7 weekends my tent becomes a safe place for untold stories, laughter and tears. A simple question ("Will I find love?") suddenly opens a long held sorrow or place of fear that now needs to come to light. The tissues come out and often (though not always) they leave with a lighter heart. Spirit moves everywhere and yes, magic is real.

In honor of autumn, this month's Motherpeace card is the 6 of Swords. Six women holding swords and roses float above an autumn landscape. Using the wisdom of both minds (swords) and hearts (roses); the women gain a new perspective on the dying land below and with this comes calmness and clarity. This card reminds us that on our own life journey there is always the opportunity for a new perspective. Sometimes that means slowing down life's pace, if only to take time for a walk and notice nature's continual dance.

Blessings,
Kate

Happy Halloween to you all!

If you haven't made any plans for October 31st you might like to stop by Indio, www.restaurantindio.com, for a Day of the Dead themed night. I will be doing readings for restaurant guests from 8:30 – 10:30 pm. They have the best margaritas in town! (disclaimer: my daughter Erin is the owner)

Looking to add some spice to your holiday gathering? I will come and provide fun and insightful readings (10 – 20 minutes) for your guests. Call, 612-823-4315 or email me, kgreenway17@msn.com for more details.
